Wendy's brother caught a cold. Her mother asked him to take a day off and took him to the doctor. Wendy didn't want to go to school, either. She was scolded by her mother because she made an uproar. She thought that her mother cared about her brother more. Her mother told her that she was very busy because she had to take care of her brother, and she asked Wendy to be obedient and do not make her angry. Wendy even hoped that she was the one to catch a cold so that her mother would care about her.
