The 1962 celebration “was more enthusiastic -- a lot more people,” said one spectator, who as a young newlywed attended Glenn’s first parade and came from her Brooklyn home again for Glenn’s second parade. Another spectator said that too many Americans take the achievements of the space program for granted. “It’s become so everyday, so ordinary, nobody cares,” he said. Glenn began the day with decorating the Rockefeller Center Christmas tree. After that event, Glenn recalled the 1962 parade, saying, “It was just so enormous. I remember just a blizzard of paper. You could hardly even look up without getting something in your eye.” Glenn, who retires from the U.S. Senate next month, joins a list of individuals and sports teams honored with more than one ticker-tape parade.
