1150615 社會人士中翻英短文翻譯參考答案

The great scientists were famous not only for their discoveries, which usually changed society, but also for their interesting lives. Having a rare, special mind often goes hand in hand with unusual behaviors and quirks. Nikola Tesla is known for many inventions. One was the alternating current method of supplying electricity that we use whenever we charge our phones or toast bread. It is fitting that Tesla was born during a thunderstorm, as he would experiment with electricity all his life.
